CommVault's 'Hockey Helping Kids' opens 14th Season

“ I am extremely proud to see our employees channel passion, commitment and team spirit to help others in such a terrific cause as Hockey Helping Kids. They are team players and it's exciting to see how the program has grown to include other members of our industry and the communities we all serve.

— N. Robert Hammer, Chairman, President and CEO, CommVault

“ I'm proud to work with our CommVault employees in such a fun and philanthropic endeavor while helping very worthwhile children's charities across the U.S. It's fantastic to add such respected partners as Network Appliance, the NHL Alumni association and RBA Consulting to the Hockey Helping Kids effort, while continuing our partnership with Microsoft and ShopRite Supermarkets. The focus here is simple, 'It's all about the kids.'

— Randy De Meno, Chief Technologist,
Windows Products & Microsoft Partnership, CommVault

“ At Microsoft, our Give program opportunity is inspiring and the CommVault Hockey Helping Kids event is one of my favorite events where I wear my Microsoft citizenship hat and my personal commitment helmet as a member of the Hendrickson Foundation's board of directors. At the Hendrickson Foundation, We Believe Hockey is for Everyone. We are honored to assist the charities of the Autism Society of MN and the Hendrickson Foundation working with the Minnesota Hockey Special Hockey programs.

— Christine Krsnik, Microsoft Account Executive SMS&P,
Board Member of the Hendrickson Foundation

CommVault's 'Hockey Helping Kids' opens 14th Season

“ We are thrilled to be the beneficiary of CommVault's Hockey Helping Kids Long Island event for the second year in a row. We salute all the volunteers who participate in this worthwhile program and we are extremely grateful for their assistance in raising awareness of our mission to help families affected by autism.

— Christie Godowski, Executive Director, Long Island Chapter of Autism Speaks

“ Children's charities will once again benefit from CommVault's Hockey Helping Kids program through their partnership with the Philadelphia Flyers. This is the fifth year that CommVault and the Flyers are working together and the Flyers are excited and grateful to be able to host this event again.

— Tony Sukanick, Client Development Executive, Philadelphia Flyers

“ We're excited once again to be a partner in CommVault's Hockey Helping Kids Program. We're grateful to be a beneficiary of this fun and worthwhile program. The generous support of CommVault and its staff will help us continue to provide much needed support for families that are impacted by autism every day.

— Jonah Weinberg, Executive Director, Autism Society of Minnesota

“ D&M Auto Body has been involved in CommVault's Charity Hockey events since their 'Hockey Helping Heroes' 9/11 game at Madison Square Garden 12 years ago. It has been our privilege to continue our support for their many charities ever since. I personally want to thank the CommVault 'team' for their hard work and dedication to others and for coordinating these beneficial charity events.

— David Rush, President, D&M Auto Body

“ The Coyotes are honored to partner with a company like CommVault, who has a proven track record of giving back to the community and youth hockey.

— Ken Troupe, Senior Director of Ticket Sales and Service, Phoenix Coyotes

“ ShopRite is proud once again to partner with CommVault as we assist local children's charities. The CommVault Hockey Helping Kids program continues to be a delightful way to reach out to children and their families in various communities.

— Nico Sumas, VP of Operations, ShopRite Village Supermarkets

“ Ice hockey has been a part of my life for more than 33 years, and during that time I have met the most extraordinary people. CommVault's Hockey Helping Kids Program was started by a few of these extraordinary people. CommVault has given me the opportunity to help youth organizations in communities throughout the country by continuing to share the game I love.

— Alana Blahoski, USA Women's Olympic Team, Gold Medalist

“ NetApp is proud of its commitment to making our communities strong and vibrant places to live and work by supporting great causes like Hockey Helping Kids. We are delighted to partner with both CommVault and Microsoft for such a great event and amazing charity!

CommVault's 'Hockey Helping Kids' opens 14th Season

“ I’m often asked what makes the Microsoft/CommVault Alliance so strong. Sure there is our shared vision on the future of technology, but it’s really much more than that. We also share a culture of giving back to our communities and the importance of providing life-changing opportunities to inspire at-risk children. That’s why I’m so proud to partner with CommVault and why I’m so proud of the work we’ve done together for Boston’s Courageous Sailing Center. Because of CommVault’s support, we’re able to get more of Boston’s at-risk kids off the streets and into our summer programming, which provides them with learning and leadership skills for life.

— Mike Opal, Microsoft Sr. Evangelist and Board Member at the Courageous Sailing Center

“ For as long as I can remember, I have had a desire to help where help is needed. I think lots of people feel that way. The challenge is finding ways to do this while working around busy life schedules. What I love about the CommVault’s Hockey Helping Kids program is that, as a result of their desire and commitment to help others, they created a fun way for employees and friends of CommVault to give back. That, and they are just a terrific group of people. As an athlete and as an Olympian, I look for opportunities to support what I believe are great causes. Year in and year out, CommVault and the Hockey Helping Kids program proves to be a cause I am proud to be associated with.

— Colleen Coyne, Gold Medalist, USA Women’s Olympic Hockey Team
